Memorial Bench:

In 1997, a memorial bench was placed in Kensington Park for Mrs. Rella Lossy. The bench was purchased by her husband, Mr. Frank Lossy and bears a plaque with the last two lines of the the poem, Eternity by William Blake. The bench is located between Building E and the school. Mr. Lossy has been requesting to purchase an additional bench for the last eight years. He seeks a location near his wife's bench that will allow for quiet contemplation and a place to take in the view.

He was originally charged $110 for the bench. He had the plaque made and park staff affixed it to the bench.

First two lines of the poem to be on a plaque placed on the bench.

He who binds to himself a joy
Does the winged life destroy;
But he who kisses the joy as it flies
Lives in eternity's sun rise.

William Blake
